RESIDENT PROFILE

Phyllis Furst was born in Boston’s North End to parents who immigrated from Italy to the United States through Ellis Island. She and her two brothers grew up in the North End, and Phyllis graduated from Girls High School in Boston. After high school, Phyllis became a secretary in the investment industry, and later married her boss. Her husband passed away a few years after they were married. Phyllis later remarried and has one daughter, Maria, who lives in Cambridge with her husband Giovanni Oliva. They own a restaurant called “Trattoria Pulcinella” on Huron Avenue in Cambridge. Phyllis has two grandchildren, Amanda and Christian, and is a great-grandmother as well. Phyllis lived in a condominium on Revere Beach prior to coming to Neville Place. Now, she and her family love to spend time with the other residents, and believe that the warm and caring associates at Neville Place are what make this place a real home. Phyllis keeps to her European ways with a kiss on each cheek for all who come to know her.

WELCOME, NEW RESIDENTS!

TRIP TO CASTLE ISLAND

On a beautiful day at the end of June, residents enjoyed a picnic on Castle Island South Boston. The ocean breeze and a delicious picnic lunch made the day perfect.

CHALICE CHOIR

The Chalice Choir from St John's Lutheran Church in Nazareth Pennsylvania recently performed at Neville Place. This group was on a four-day tour of the Boston area, and performed at three assisted living communities and at a church in Harvard Square. These young men and women gave a wonderful concert and then gave out several fleece lap blankets that they had made. We had a great visit with these young ambassadors from Pennsylvania!

Sylvia Bilander was one of the winners of a blanket, presented by a Chalice Choir member.
