RESIDENT PROFILE

Winton Hanson was born in Cambridge in 1924 and lived in Waltham for twelve years. His father worked in the brokerage business. In his high school years, Winton attended boarding school at Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, Massachusetts, where he met his future wife, Jean (pictured with him above). After graduation, Winton attended Syracuse University and it was there that he developed an interest in advertising. Winton went into the service and worked in intelligence during World War II, and although he did not see combat, he spent much of the war in England.

Winton ran into Jean while at a 15th reunion at Cushing. The two married and had three children: Laura, Douglas, and Greg. The family settled in Maywood, New Jersey, where Jean raised the children and Winton worked in advertising, mostly for home furnishings businesses. Winton and Jean moved to Neville Place several years ago. Sadly, Jean passed away a few years ago. Winton calls her “his best girlfriend.”

Winton has become an avid Red Sox fan and can give you a full report on both their successes and shortcomings!
