RESIDENT PROFILE

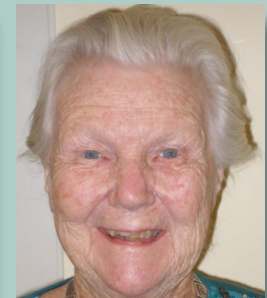

Sue Yee was born in Taishan, in the southern part of China. She came to the U.S. shortly after her husband completed his military service in the U.S. Army. They both operated a small Chinese restaurant in Fall River for almost 40 years. While raising three children and working, Sue always made time for gardening and craft projects and any type of exercise. She learned how to swim when she was almost 65 and swam daily at the local YMCA, to which she walked each day. Sue moved to Cambridge almost 15 years ago to be closer to her children who lived in the Boston area.

Sue has three children, Harvey, Diana and Janice and six grandchildren. She continues to love her exercise and gardening and you will find Sue walking out on the grounds of Neville Place no matter the temperature outside. She also helps to make sure weeds don't get out of hand around the Neville grounds!
