RESIDENT PROFILE

Lorraine Chaulk was born and raised in South Boston, one of five children. In 1956 she graduated from Archbishop Cushing High School, where she was involved in music, the science club, and the softball team. Lorraine went on to Salem State College with the goal of becoming a history teacher. When her sister became ill, however, Lorraine left school to take on the responsibility of raising her nephew.

A few years later, Lorraine went to work as a bookbinder at Harvard University. She continued in Harvard's library division for the next twenty years. After a year working in an optical company, Lorraine got a job in construction, where she earned her plumber's license. This job took Lorraine all over the state. Once, while working for a Catholic youth organization, Lorraine was able to meet Pope John Paul II in Colorado! Lorraine also had the opportunity to travel to Italy to see Vatican City in 1997 with her church group. Lorraine is an avid sports fan and closely follows the Red Sox and Patriots. She loves to travel and has been to Venezuela, Panama, the Bahamas, Ireland, Portugal, Spain, Africa, Canada, and more! Another interesting fact about Lorraine is that she once was president of the Winnebago Club. Lorraine still remains very close with her family, and especially enjoys the company of her six nieces and nephews.
