RESIDENT PROFILE

Lorna Rossinow was born in Cornwall, England. Lorna’s dad worked in the clay industry and her mother raised Lorna at their home in rural England. When Lorna was ten years old, she attended boarding school about sixty miles from home at Edgehill College. Lorna loved this school and when she graduated went to work for Barclay’s Bank. She met her husband Leo Rossinow during the war. Leo was from Brooklyn, New York, so when the war ended they settled there for a while. They had a daughter, Jayne, and a son, David.

Lorna lived much of the following years in the New Jersey suburbs of Manhattan. She worked for a time for a doctor in New Jersey. She loved to play tennis and was able to go back to England often to visit her family. Lorna has traveled extensively and one of her most memorable trips was to Russia while it was still under communist rule. She moved to Neville Place from New Jersey, as her children both live in Massachusetts, her daughter Jayne in Cambridge.

Lorna enjoys living at Neville Place and is an active member of our book group, enjoys concerts, walks on Fresh Pond Reservation, and is sharing a garden plot in our community garden with Jayne.

OLD TOWN TROLLEY TOUR

NEVILLE PLACE LUAU

Neville Place raised more than $1,000 for Alzheimer's research at its recent Luau! This popular event, which takes place annually, raises funds which will be presented to the Boston University Alzheimer's Disease Center (BUADC) for research, education and support for individuals and their families dealing with Alzheimer's.

EXPRESSIVE ART THERAPY

Resident Priscilla Gage recently shared a lovely poem that she wrote (see below).

A CHILDREN'S POEM

The pansies
Around the tree
Would be beautiful to see.
