NEW RESIDENT PROFILE

New BayView Resident Vincent Boyle is a Southie man through and through! Vincent was born and raised in South Boston and fondly remembers playing football on the sidewalk with his brother. Vincent's father was a rubber worker and his mother a homemaker.

After graduating from the South Boston Mechanic Arts School he enlisted in the Army and, upon returning home, went into the auto body business for a few years—50 to be exact!

When asked how he met his wife, Vincent says, "I had the auto body shop on Broadway and my future wife worked at John Hancock. Every night I would watch her and her girlfriend walk home. The funny part is, I originally had a crush on her friend! Needless to say, we were happily married for 48 years, and have five children, who today all live locally."

Vincent's passion and favorite hobby is working on antique cars. "The last car I worked on was a 1948 Pontiac Woody, a 4-door sedan that had solid wood on the doors. My next project will be to refurbish a 1942 U.S. Army Ambulance that's being shipped up from Minnesota."

"I like to be active," Vincent says. "I'm not the type who can sit around too much!"

LOBSTER LUNCH

ASSOCIATE PROFILE

Caregiver Paulette Cooper was born in Jamaica as one of nine children. She fondly remembers how much she and her siblings loved going to the beach for fried fish and coconut water. Also, she says, "Growing up in such a large family, we did learn to share at a young age!"

Three years ago Paulette moved to the United States. "There are more opportunities here for my daughter and me," she says. Paulette's daughter is 12 years old and in the 7th grade. "We have a great relationship; she is very open with me." Laughing, Paulette adds "she is currently teaching me about computers."

When Paulette is not working, she loves to sing and listen to Gospel music. She says, "I don't feel I have a very good voice, but I love to sing nevertheless." Paulette considers herself a people person, saying, "I enjoy taking care of others. I lost my mother at a young age, and by helping those in need, I feel fulfilled."

We are lucky to have such a compassionate caregiver as Paulette!

SURF & TURF LUNCHEON

The BayView recently held a special surf & turf luncheon in honor of National Assisted Living Week. Residents were treated to their choice of steamed lobster, grilled steak, or both!

JOHN HORAN RECEIVES SOUTHIE AWARD

This summer, BayView resident John Horan was honored for his many years of service and dedication to the South Boston community. A few weeks after receiving the award John passed away, and though he will be missed, we are proud to have known the man for whom August 6, 2009 was named "John 'Injun' Horan Day" in the city of Boston.

John Horan (above, right) was joined by friends and Boston City Councilors to celebrate his honor.
